Long COVID in a highly vaccinated population infected during a SARS-CoV-2 Omicron wave - Australia, 2022

medrxiv.org/content/10.110......

Results: 18.2% (n=2,130) of respondents met case definition for Long COVID. Female sex, being 50-69 years of age, pre-existing health issues, residing in a rural or remote area, and receiving fewer vaccine doses were significant independent predictors of Long COVID (p < 0.05). Persons with Long COVID reported a median of 6 symptoms, most commonly fatigue (70.6%) and difficulty concentrating (59.6%); 38.2% consulted a GP and 1.6% reported hospitalisation in the month prior to the survey due to ongoing symptoms. Of 1,778 respondents with Long COVID who were working/studying before their COVID-19 diagnosis, 17.9% reported reducing/discontinuing work/study.

Conclusion: 90 days post Omicron infection, almost 1 in 5 respondents reported Long COVID symptoms; 1 in 15 of all persons with COVID-19 sought healthcare for associated health concerns >= 2 months after the acute illness.

Significance of the study

The known: The prevalence of Long COVID varies widely across studies conducted in diverse settings globally (range: 9%-81%).

The new: In a highly vaccinated population (94% with >=3 vaccine doses), almost 20% of persons infected with the SARS-CoV-2 Omicron variant reported symptoms consistent with Long COVID 90 days post diagnosis. Long COVID was associated with sustained negative impacts on work/study and a substantial utilisation of GP services 2-3 months after the acute illness; however, ED presentations and hospitalisations for Long COVID were rare.

The implications: GP clinics play a significant role in managing the burden of Long COVID in Australia.

In Staten Island, N.Y., protestors rallied against proposals to turn an assisted living facility into a migrant shelter.

Artist Scott LoBaido told the crowd that anti-government protests on Staten Island during the coronavirus pandemic were just the beginning:

"We are at war ... and it's not looking good" said LoBaido, referencing the migrant crisis, the LGBTQ+ movement and cancel culture.

He called for people to gather in mass to fight back against the city's anti American policies.

HAWAII UPDATES: "I just got out of a meeting where I was informed by someone in the Mayor's office about developments that are being kept from the public. I am not a conspiracy theorist and I don't want to make trouble but here's what I've heard. The amount of fatalities is expected to be more than 500 but less than 1000. Many of the fatalities will be children will o were at home because they canceled school, parents were working, and were not there to evacuate the children. The children had no idea they needed to leave and by the time they noticed their homes or apartments were on fire, it was too late. The government is worried about how we will react when we learn that the fire department left the fire earlier in the day and claimed it was 100% contained knowing that the winds were expected to be 70mph by the afternoon. This is against all fire control protocols: The fire department should not have left the original fire unattended. They are scared that the public calls for accountability will be more than they can control and protests and riots will occur. They plan to lock down Lahaina for several months. It will take months to clean up the hazardous and environmental contamination. They won't have enough housing for all the displaced. There were 2,000 folks unaccounted for this morning. They found 700 today but there are still 1300 missing. They are very worried that the community is going to freak out when they find out how not a single fire truck responded to the sinister. The emergency sirens were not activated (hurricane sirens) and the loss of life could have been kept down by better emergency management which utterly failed. I'm not trying to make waves or stir up problems but I was so angry and sad when I found out how many children are dead that I knew I had to post this and let everyone know what I have learned. Civil disobedience is not our problem. Our problem is civil obedience.

Our problem is that people all over the world have obeyed the dictates of leaders. Millions have been killed because of this obedience. Our problem is that people are obedient all over the world in the face of poverty, starvation, stupidity, war and cruelty. Our problem is that people are obediently filling our jails full of petty thieves while the grand thieves are running the country. That's our problem.

We are also not supposed to be curious about why the Deagel Corporation, whose founder Dr. Edwin A. Deagle Jr., had ties to the Rockefeller Foundation, the military-industrial complex and the CIA, issued a population forecast in 2014 showing that 68.5 percent of the U.S. population would be wiped out by the end of 2025. Deagel forecasted that the UK would lose 77 percent of its population, Germany 65 percent, France and Spain over 40 percent, and most of the rest of the NATO countries losing 30 to 50 percent of their populations by 2025.

Now we are supposed to accept the fact that a mystery author wrote and published a book about the Maui fires that have killed more than 100 people, the most deadly U.S. fire in a century, just two days after the fires started.

I suppose it's also a conspiracy theory to question why this fire destroyed buildings but left many of the trees, or why police formed a blockade of trucks to trap victims in the flames, or why the emergency sirens didn't work, or why the fires happened to break out on land that was

Aggressive 'Turbo Cancers" in Young People Linked to Immune–Suppressing Shots, Says Dr. Ryan Cole

"A colleague [breast pathologist] of mine in Sweden ... noticed young women developing cancer after the rollout of the injections, and she noticed that these cancers were more aggressive and spreading more quickly," shared @DrCole12.

"Because of the dysregulation of the immune responses and the suppression of the immune system by these genetic-based injections ... these cancers that normally would be kept in check by the body are unexpectedly growing very quickly."

Former vice president at Pfizer, Dr. Mike Yeadon: The real goal of the "pandemic" was total digital enslavement, using digital ID and CBDCs:

"[The] logical endpoint [is] totalitarian control of everyone on the planet using digital techniques. This whole thing is a multi year plan designed to smash civil society, to wreck the economy and to introduce various digital controls, [including] digital ID."

"If you accept this, you are in the first stages of the same funnel that cattle go down waiting [for] the stun bullet. So please say no, because there's no escape from the totalitarian control that digital ID will grant. Whoever owns the database and controls the algorithm, controls you."

There is a growing conviction among scientists that a systematic, scientifically sound, properly conceived program of research and development in weather modification is warranted. There are two reasons for this conviction. First, there have been some successful experiments in the field of weather modification, although their results are far from definitive. Second, there have been a number of technological advances over the past decade that give us a new capability for research. We are beginning to simulate atmospheric phenomena on high-speed electronic computers, which enables us to "experiment" with the atmosphere under "controlled" conditions. We are acquiring a deeper understanding of the physical and chemical processes of the atmosphere. We have a new capability for observing the atmosphere. And we have systems for the delivery of man-made materials into the atmosphere that were unavailable to us a few years ago. These advances now make it possible to mount a broad program of research to determine once and for all what types of weather modification are feasible. It will undoubtedly take many years to achieve significant results, but we are now in a position to begin.

A national program of weather modification research will require additional resources to provide the necessary facilities for the conduct of large-scale field research experiments. We must attract to the program the best scientific and engineering talent, both to seek the basic knowledge that we need and to ensure that our field experiments are designed, operated, and controlled in accordance with the best principles of scientific research. And the program must give careful study not only to the scientific problems of weather modification, but also to its social, economic, and legal consequences.

The Environmental Science Services Administration has been giving considerable thought to the future direction of weather modification research in the United States. On July 10, 1965, a special report on weather modification was submitted to the Chief of the Weather Bureau. This report deals with the scientific, social, economic, legal, and legislative aspects of the subject, and it represents an important contribution to the extensive national discussion on weather modification that is now being carried on. Other important reports on the subject are in preparation - one by a special panel of the National Academy of Sciences and another by a special commission of the National Science Foundation. These studies will all help shape Federal policy in the
